BIOGRAPHY

Peter Bouck joined Martin Tate in August 2026. Before joining the firm, he served as a judicial law clerk to Chief U.S. District Judge Sheryl H. Lipman of the Western District of Tennessee.

Peter graduated first in his class from the University of Memphis Cecil C. Humphreys School of Law, where he served as Chief Justice of the Honor Council and Senior Notes Editor of the University of Memphis Law Review, and received two writing awards and several CALI Awards for the highest grades in his courses.

Before law school, Peter earned an M.A. in Latin from the University of Georgia and taught Latin for many years. He previously received a Fulbright Scholarship to Malta after earning a B.A. in the Plan II Honors Program and History from the University of Texas. Peter and his wife Libbie have three daughters. He enjoys running, gardening, and spending time with his family.
